CITY BRIEF

2. City Brief. OTA, Gaya has been conceived and raised on a sprawling campus spread over an area of almost 863 acres adjacent to the Gaya International Airport and mid-way between Gaya city and Bodhgaya in the state of Bihar in the Central Indian region. Gaya city has a rich cultural heritage and the city holds tremendous religious value for both Hindus and Buddhists. The city is surrounded by hills from Northern, Western and the Southern flanks with River Falgu flowing on the Eastern flank. The city is interspersed with vintage buildings and modern complexes giving a reminiscence of the ancient era and gradual transition towards the 21st century. A map of Gaya city is attached at Appendix 'B'. Other historical sites in the close vicinity of the Academy are as listed.

Myanmar (Burmese) temple is also pagoda shaped and is reminiscent of Bagan (an ancient city in Myanmar). The Thai temple has a typical sloping, curved roof covered with golden tiles. Inside, the temple holds a massive bronze statue of Buddha. Next to the Thai temple is 25 meter statue of Buddha located within a garden which exist for over 100 years at the same location.

BODH GAYA

(a) Bodh Gaya. Located about 8 kms from the Academy, Bodhgaya is a religious site and place of pilgrimage associated with the Mahabodhi Temple Complex in Gaya district in the Indian state of Bihar. It is famous as it is the place where Gautama Buddha is said to have obtained Enlightenment. For Buddhists, Bodh Gaya is the most important of the main four pilgrimage sites related to the life of Gautama Buddha, the other three being Kushinagar, Lumbini and Sarnath. In 2002, Mahabodhi Temple, located in Bodh Gaya, became a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Several Buddhist temples and monasteries have been built by the people of Bhutan, China, Japan, Myanmar, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Taiwan, Thailand, Tibet and Vietnam in a wide area around the Mahabodhi Temple. These buildings reflect the architectural style, exterior and interior decoration of their respective countries. The statue of Buddha in the Chinese temple is 200 years old and was brought from China. Japan's Nippon temple is shaped like a pagoda. The

(b) Rajgir. Rajgir located around 65 kms from the Academy and 15 kms from Nalanda, means "The Abode of Kings" and has been mentioned first in the ancient Hindu epic Mahabharata as the capital of Magadh, ruled by the mighty King Jarasandha. Although the exact time of the origin of this city has not been established, it is estimated by scholars that it must be around 3,000 years old. Rajgir has been closely related to Hinduism, Buddhism and Jainism and has played host to Lord Buddha and Mahavira, thus has many archeological sites related to Buddhism and Jainism. The teachings of Buddha were penned down at Rajgir and it was also the venue for the First Buddhist Council. This area is also notable in Buddhism as one of the favourite places of Gautama Buddha and the well-known "Atanatiya" conference was held at Vulture's Peak Mountain situated here. Lord Buddha not only had spent many years at Rajgir but also delivered sermons here and proselytized Emperor Bimbisara at the Griddhakoota hill. The Jivekarmavan monastery was the favourite residence of Lord Buddha. Rajgir also has some very beautiful Hindu and Jain temples which attracts Hindus and Jains to the place. Not only as a place for worship, Rajgir has also come up as health and winter resort with its warm water ponds. The added attraction of Rajgir is the Ropeway which takes you uphill to the Shanti Stupa and Monasteries built by the Japanese devotees on top of the Ratnagiri hills.

NALANDA

(c) Nalanda. An ancient centre of higher learning in Bihar and one of the world's first residential universities, it was a religious centre of learning from the fifth century AD to 1197 AD, which taught teachings of Vedas, Logic, Grammar, Medicine, Meta-Physics, and Prose Composition. At its peak, the university attracted scholars and students from as far away as Tibet, China, Greece, and Persia with 2,000 teachers and 10,000 monks students from all over the Buddhist world who lived and studied here. The ruins of the world's most ancient university lies here which is 92 kms from Bodhgaya and 90 kms south of Patna. Though, Lord Buddha visited Nalanda several times during his lifetime, this famous center of Buddhist learning shot to fame much later, during 5th-12th centuries. Hieun Tsang stayed here in the 7th century AD and left a detailed description of the excellence of education system and purity of monastic life practiced here. He also gave a vivid account of both the ambiance and architecture of this unique university of ancient times. The Gupta kings patronised these monasteries, built in old Kushan architectural style, in a row of cells around a courtyard. Emperor Ashoka and Harshavardhana were some of its most celebrated patrons who built temples, monasteries and viharas here. An International Center for Buddhist Studies was established here in 1951. Nearby is Bihar Sharif, where an 'Annual Urs' is celebrated at the Dargah or tomb of Malik Ibrahim Baya. Baragaon, 2 km away has a Sun Temple, famous for Chhath Puja. In 2006, Singapore, China, India, Japan, and other nations, announced a proposed plan to restore and revive the ancient site as Nalanda International University which has recently been commissioned.

This is the most physically and emotionally demanding part of the one year training at OTA, Gaya and is designed to help you make the transition from a civilian

To avoid any quick or rash decision which may result in a new Officer Cadet losing this opportunity for which he has worked so hard, the trainees are expected to free to approach their Officer Instructors for any assistance or support to adjust to the daily routine in the Academy. Experience has shown that it is best to take one day at a time, and that with each new day's experience, strength and confidence are built. The imposed discipline of Academy will gradually get replaced with self-discipline, the key to success as an Army Officer. IMPRESSIONS FROM NEW CADETS

14. Impressions from New Cadets. “My first step to become the leader that I aspire to be and what an experience....Its a roller coaster but at the end it is all worth it. It was a moment of great pride when I first saluted the national flag having passed the Drill Test & realised how precious it is to be a part of this wonderful army, responsible for protection of the nation. Within one month I have become the envy of my friends back home & pride of my parents. I never thought that such would be the transformation in me; training has made me not only confront my fears but also to overcome them. The training made me confident, gave me great experiences & friends for a life time. It's a great feeling to know you have a buddy who is there for you & you can count on him always & everytime. The friendships you make during training are unlike anything I experienced in my school. The kind of challenges you face and successes you have created a bond that people who weren't there just can't understand. Training at Officers Training Academy, Gaya showed me what I am truly capable of doing when I put my mind to it and drive on. The tasks we had to do, gave me confidence and a feeling of accomplishment that made it all worthwhile.

Initial training is like any sport, it will wear you down after a while, especially if you start taking everything as seriously as they want you to. The secret is to keep your sense of humour and remember that you are bound to mess up – they'll make sure of that – but as long as you give it your best, nothing else matters. You will look back someday and realise the importance of all ingredients of training when you become officer.
